

Pennsylvania Senate - 1801-1802

Democratic Republican - 17; Federalist - 8 *

County	Name	Party	Term Exp.
Philadelphia City, Philadelphia, Delaware	Porter, John	Rep	1805
Philadelphia City, Philadelphia, Delaware	Pearson, John	Rep	1804
Philadelphia City, Philadelphia, Delaware	Gurney, Francis	Fed	1802
Philadelphia City, Philadelphia, Delaware	Jones, John	Fed	1803
Bucks	Rodman, William	Rep	1804
Chester	Whelen, Dennis	Fed	1802
Montgomery	Richards, John	Rep	1803
Berks, Dauphin	Orth, Henry	Rep	1802
Berks, Dauphin	Lower, Christian	Rep	1804
Lancaster	Carpenter, Abraham	Fed	1802
Lancaster	Barton, Matthias	Fed	1804
York, Adams	Ewing, James	Fed	1803
York, Adams	Reed, William	Rep	1805
Northumberland	Maclay, Samuel	Rep	1802
Northampton, Wayne, Luzerne	Mewhorter, Thomas	Rep	1803
Northampton, Wayne, Luzerne	Hartzell, Jonas	Rep	1805
Cumberland	Whitehill, Robert	Rep	1805
Mifflin, Lycoming, Centre	Harris, James	Rep	1804
Bedford, Huntingdon, Somerset	Piper, John	Rep	1805
Franklin	Johnston, Thomas	Fed	1803
Westmoreland, Armstrong, Indiana	Findley, William	Rep	1803
Fayette, Greene	King, Samuel	Fed	1802
Washington	Hamilton, John	Rep	1804
Allegheny, Beaver, Butler	Morton, Thomas	Rep	1805
Crawford, Erie, Venango, Mercer, Warren	McArthur, William	Rep	1805

* Sanford Higginbotham (The Keystone in the Democratic Arch, p.37) states that the Federalists had seven seats, presumably based on the fact that the Republicans had gained six seats over 1800. However, did does not take into account the fact that the Senate had been increased from 24 to 25 members.